What Information Do We Collect?

The hiring of an Attorney to advise and represent you or your company is a very important decision and should not be solely based on information received from a Web Site. We encourage you to contact us and schedule a consultation so that we may understand your specific needs and you can understand our qualifications and expertise. Neither this World Wide Web Site nor your access to this Site creates an attorney-client relationship between you and the law firm of David Hammerquist Law Chartered Lawyers or any member of this firm. When you visit our Web Site you may provide us with two types of information: personal information you knowingly choose to disclose that is collected on an individual basis, and Web Site use information collected on an aggregate basis as you and others browse our Web Site.

Personal Information You Choose to Provide.

You may voluntarily provide us personally identifiable information. If you choose to correspond with us through email, we may retain the content of your email messages together with your email address and our responses. Similar to other commercial Web Sites, our Web Site may utilize a standard technology called “cookies” and Web server logs to collect information about how our Web Site is used. Information gathered through cookies and Web server logs may include the date and time of visits, the pages viewed, time spent at our Web Site, and the Web Sites visited just before and just after our Web Site.

How Do We Use the Information That You Provide to Us?

YOUR INFORMATION WILL NOT BE SHARED WITH ANYONE, EXCEPT AS REQUIRED BY LAW.

Broadly speaking, we use personal information for purposes of enhancing or modifying our Site, administering and expanding our business activities or responding to inquiries.

What Are Cookies?

A cookie is a very small text document, which often includes an anonymous unique identifier. When you visit a Web Site, that Site's computer asks your computer for permission to store this file in a part of your hard drive specifically designated for cookies. Each Web Site can send its own cookie to your browser if your browser's preferences allow it, but (to protect your privacy) your browser only permits a Web Site to access the cookies it has already sent to you, not the cookies sent to you by other Sites.

How Do We Use Information We Collect from Cookies?

As you use our Web Site, the Site uses its cookies to differentiate you from other users. Cookies, in conjunction with our Web server's log files, allow us to calculate the aggregate number of people visiting our Web Site and which parts of the Site are most popular. This helps us gather feedback in order to constantly improve our Web Site. Cookies do not allow us to gather any personal information about you and we do not generally store any personal information that you provided to us in your cookies.

Sharing Information with Third Parties

We do not share information collected with third parties, except as required by law.

What About Other Web Sites Linked to This Web Site?

We are not responsible for the practices employed by Web Sites linked to or from our Web Site nor the information or content contained therein. Often links to other Web Sites are provided solely as pointers to information on topics that may be useful to the user. Please remember that when you use a link to go from our Web Site to another Web Site, our Privacy Policy is no longer in effect. Your browsing and interaction on any other Web Site, including Web Sites which have a link on our Web Site, is subject to that Web Site's own rules and policies. Please read over those rules and policies before proceeding.

Questions and Updates

If you have any questions or suggestions about our privacy practices, or you wish to update or correct any personally identifiable information that you have chosen to provide us, please feel free to contact us using the form on the Web Site.

Your Consent

By using our Web Site you consent to our collection and use of your personal information as described in this Privacy Policy. If we change our privacy policies and procedures, we will post those changes on our Web Site to keep you aware of what information we collect, how we use it and under what circumstances we may disclose it.
